DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is phenyl and R5 is halo or phenyl containing.

Group II, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is phenyl and R5 is pyridyl containing.

Group III, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is phenyl and R5 is quinolinyl containing.

Group IV, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is thienyl and R5 is halo or phenyl containing.

Group V, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is thienyl and R5 is pyridyl containing.

Group VI, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is thienyl and R5 is quinolinyl containing.

Group VII, claim(s) drawn to compounds compositions and methods wherein R1 is benzothienyl and R6 is non-het.

Group VIII, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is benzothienyl and R6 is pyridyl containing.

Group IX, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is benzothienyl and R6 is oxazdiazole containing.

Art Unit: 1625

Group X, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is benzothienyl and R6 is thienyl.

Group XI, claim(s) drawn to compounds, compositions and methods wherein R1 is benzothienyl and R6 is any other het group other than those above.

The inventions listed as Groups I-XI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

According to MPEP Section 1850 D, a Markush group must meet two criteria for unity of invention, i.e. (A) and (B) or (C). In the instant case, neither (B) or (C) is met since there is not a significant structural element, that is a large portion of the molecule or if the common portion is small it must be novel, which is neither the case here; or all the alternatives do not belong to a recognized class of chemical compounds (see phosphorus carboximides, phosphorus thienyls, phosphorus pyridyls, phosphorus quinolines etc.)

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: carboxamides, thienyls, pyridyls, quinolines etc.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: Claims 1 and 7.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

They do not share a substantial common core, nor is said core novel wherein the resultant compounds upon substitution of the variables are so structurally diverse that each would require an independent and separate search and examination wherein further a reference anticipating one would not necessarily render the other obvious and to search and examine all the species in a single application would present an undue burden on the examiner.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
